[CONCLUDED FROM SECOND PAGE.] I do not recognize the right of the Aboli Conists of this country to arraign me for being false to sacred pledges, as they have done in their proclamation. Let them show when and where I have ever proposed to violate a compact. I have moved that I stood by the compact of 1820 and 1845, and proposed its continuance and observance in 1848. I have proved that the Free Soilers and Abolitionists were the guilty parties who violated that compromise then. I should like to compare totes with these Abolition confederates about adrence to compromises. When did they stand

Did not every Abolitionist and Free Soiler in America denounce the Missouri compromise in 1820! Did they not for years hunt down ravenounly for his blood every man who assisted in makof that compromise! Did they not in 1845, when was annexed, denounce all of us who went annexation of Texas, and for the continution of the Missouri compromise line through it! Did they not in 1848 denounce me as a slavery propagandist for standing by the principles of the Missouri compromise, and proposing to continue the Missouri compromise line to the Pacific occun! Did they not themselves violate and repudiate it then? Is not the charge of bad faith true as to every Abolitionist in America, instead of being true as to me and the committee, and those who advocate this bill?

They talk about the bill being a violation of the compromise measures of 1850. Who can show me a man in either House of Congress who was in favor of the compromise measures of 1850, and who is not now in favor of leaving the people of Nebraska and Kansas to do as they please upon the subject of slavery according to to the provisions of my bill? Is there one! If so, I have not heard of him. This tornado has been raised by Abo'itionists, and Abolitionists alone. They have made an impression upon the public mind in the way in which I have mentioned, by a falsification of the law and the facts; and this wbole organization Physician and Surgeon. Office in F. W. Seymour's building against the compromise measures of 1850 is an Abelition movement. I presume they had some Abolition movement. I presume they had some hopes of getting a few tender-footed Democrats into their plot; and, acting on what they supposed they might do, they sent forth publicly to the world the falsehood that their address was signed by the Senators and a majority of the Representatives from the State of Ohio; but when we come to examine signatures, we find no one Whig there, no one Democrat there; none but pure, unmitigated, unadulterated Abolitionists.

Much effect, I know, has been produced by this circular, coming as it does with the imposing title M. RICE, M. D.] of a representation of a majority of the Ohio delegation. What was the reason for its effect! Because the manner in which it was sent forth implied that all the Whig members of the State had Dontist. oined in it; that part of the Democrats had signed it; and then that the two Abolitionists had signed it, and that made a majority of the delegation. By this means it frightened the Whig party and the Democracy in the State of Ohio, because they supposed their own Representatives and friends had gone into this negro movement, when the fact turns out to be that it was not signed by a single Whig or Democratic member from Ohio.

Now, I ask the friends and the opponents of this necessure to look at it as it is. Is not the question involved the simple one, whether the people of the Cerritories shall be allowed to do as they please pon the question of slavery, subject only to the imitations of the Constitution? That is all the Goods. measure to look at it as it is. Is not the question involved the simple one, whether the people of the Territories shall be allowed to do as they please upon the question of slavery, subject only to the imitations of the Constitution! That is all the bill provides; and it does so in clear, explicit, and unequivocal terms. I know there are some men, Whigs and Democrats, who, not willing to repudiate the Baltimore platform of their own party, would be willing to vote for this principle, provided they could deny that it means what it was intended to mean in certain localities. I do not wish to deal in any equivocal language. If the principle is right, let it be avowed and maintained. If it is wrong, let it be repudiated. Let all this quibbling about the Missouri compromise, about the territory acquired from France, about the act of 1820, be cast behind you; for the simple question is, will you allow the people to legislate for themselves upon the subject of slavery! Why should von not!

When you propose to give them a territorial government do you not acknowledge that they ought to be erected into a political organization; and when you give them a Legislature do you not acknowledge that they are capable of self-government? Having made that acknowledgment, why should you not allow them to exercise the rights of legislation? Oh, these Abolitionists say they are entirely willing to concede all this, with one exception. They say they are willing to trust the Territorial Legislature, under the limitations of the Constitution, to legislate upon the rights of inheritance, to legislate in regard to religion, education, and morals, to legislate in regard to the relations of husband and wife, of parent and child, of guardian and ward, upon everything pertaining to the dearest rights and interests of white men, but are not willing to trust them to legislate in regard to a few miserable negroes. That is their single exception. They acknowledge that the people of the Territories are capable of deciding for themselves concerning white men, but not in relation to negroes. The real gist of the matter is this: Does it require any higher degree of civilization, and in intelligence, and learning, sagacity, to legislate for negroes than for white men? If it does, we ought to adopt the abolition doctrine, and go with them against this bill. If it does not-if we are willing to trust the people with the great, sacred, fudamental right of prescribing their own institutions, consistent with the Constitution of the country, we must vote for this bill as reported by the Committee on Territories. That is the only question involved in the the bill. I hope I have been able to strip it of all the misrepresentation, to wipe eway all of that mist and obscurity with which it has been surrounded by this Abolition address.

I have now said all I have to say upon the present occasion. For all, except the first ten minutes of these remarks, the Abolition confederates are responible. My object, in the first place was only to explain the provisions of the bill, so that they might be distinctly understood. I was willing to allow its assailants to attack it as much as they pleased, reserving to myself the right, when the time should approach for taking the vote, to answer, in a concluding speech, all the arguments which might be urged against it. I still reserve—what I believe common courtesy and parliamentary usage awards to the chairman of a committee and the author of a bill—the right of the subscribers have gone into the Furniture Business very stress of turnish our customers with Furniture of the very best and latest styles. I hope the compact which was made on last Tuesday, at the suggestion of these Abolitionists, when the bill was proposed to be taken up, will be observed. It was that the bill, when taken up to-day, should continue to be considered from day to day until finally disposed of. I hope they will to day until finally disposed of. I hope they will a compact as they are the state of the s not repudiate and violate that compact as they have the Missouri compromise and all others which have been entered into. I hope, therefore, that we may press the bill to a vote; but not by depriving persons of an opportunity of speaking.

I am in favor of giving every enemy of the bill the most ample time. Let us hear them all patiently, and then take the vote and pass the bill We who are in favor of it know that the principle on which it is based is right. Why then should we gratify the Abolition party in their effort to get up another political tornado of fanaticism, and put the country again in peril, merely for the purpose of electing a few agitators to the Congress of the United States. We intend to stand by the principle of the com-omise measures of 1850—that principle which lost the Presidency to the Senator from Michigan [Mr. Cass] in 1848, but which triumphed in 1850, though he had been a martyr in the cause—that rinciple to which the Democracy are pledged, not merely by the Baltimore platform, but by a higher and a more solemn obligation, to which they are ledged by the love and affection which they have for that great fundamental principle of Democracy and free institutions which lies at the basis of our creed, and gives every political community the right to govern itself in obedience to the Consti-tution of the country.
